

Driving and Travel Waiver

Driving abroad:

Interstudy does not recommend the renting or driving of automobiles while abroad. Driving rules and conditions of your host country and surrounding countries may be different from those of your home country and penalties may also be more severe. Due to visibility and road size, driving at night is also an added risk. Differences include but are not limited to the use of the metric system to gauge your speed, using the metric system to calculate distance, driving on the left side of the road, the driver's seat location being on the right side of the car, and the majority of automobiles operating on standard transmission.

Travel abroad:

Interstudy does not recommend traveling to surrounding countries from which official travel warnings have been issued by the U.S. State Department. It is recommended that you refer to the US State department travel warnings prior to departure to any country. http://travel.state.gov/travel/cis_pa_tw/tw/tw_1764.html

Acknowledgement:

By signing this waiver, I _____ acknowledge that if I choose to drive or rent a car while abroad that I do so against the recommendation of Interstudy. I understand that any injury to myself, others, or damage to the vehicle is my responsibility and not that of Interstudy. My financial obligations or legal responsibilities do not fall to Interstudy in the event that I, or members of my party damage our vehicle or property belonging to anyone else. I understand that the driving rules of my host country or others that I visit may be different than those I am accustomed to and it is advisable to learn them. I understand that it is not advised to travel to certain countries under warning from the State Department whether by automobile or other means. I understand that Interstudy has disclosed their recommendations, and it is in my best interest to follow them.
